This March the AIAA Congressional Visits Day (CVD) will be conducted virtually which provides many new opportunities for our members to participate where travel funding or time off were barriers.

CVD is important event and want to encourage you to sign up. Registration is free and CVD is virtual, but your participation is priceless. A training seminar is schedule for Feb 5th.

Your support of this upcoming event will be invaluable during a time when COVID-19 is weakening the resilient aerospace and defense (A&D) industry.

Enormous revenue losses, large-scale unemployment in aviation, erosion of military capabilities, and the breakdown of essential supply chains composed of small and mid-sized companies are creating a dire situation that cannot easily be reversed unless more is done by our decision makers in Washington, DC.
