St. Louis Section Honors & Awards Banquet

Challenger Learning Center: Igniting the Future Generation of Innovators.
Come and learn how the Challenger Learning Center-St. Louis has been inspiring future engineers, scientists and explorers through simulated space missions and other experiential, hands-on science and engineering programs. The nationally-recognized center is located in Ferguson and has served over 100,000 students and thousands of teachers from the greater St. Louis region since opening in 2003. It is part of the Challenger Center for Space Science Education, an international organization founded in 1986 by the families of the astronauts tragically lost during the Challenger space shuttle mission. As one of the leading informal science organizations in North County that was recognized by Market Watch as one of the “10 good things you don’t know about Ferguson”, the Challenger Learning Center is truly unique in its ability to provide innovative, hands-on experiences. The program helps students feel successful in STEM-based roles and provides them with an understanding of the importance of communication and teamwork.

Tasmyn Scarl Front is the Executive Director of the Challenger Learning Center-St. Louis and has over 25 years of experience in informal science education. Since 2002, Tasmyn has led a team of dedicated educators, managers, and volunteers at the Challenger Learning Center to develop and facilitate award-winning programs, which have been recognized both locally and nationally.
