Come and learn about the design, building, and flight test of the Wright “B” Flyer know as the “Silver Bird,” while learning about the organization and touring the museum that keeps the Wright “B” Flyer No. 001 – the “Brown Bird” flying around Dayton, OH and the country.

Wright “B” Flyer Inc. is an all-volunteer, membership-based, not-for-profit corporation based on Dayton-Wright Brothers Airport near Dayton, Ohio. This organization has been a flying ambassador of Dayton’s aviation heritage for more than 25 years. It has appeared at public and private events from California to Berlin and places in between.

Their mission “To promote, through exhibition of Wright “B” Flyer lookalikes, public awareness of the Dayton, Ohio region, where the Wright Brothers lived, invented the airplane, and gave birth to modern aviation.”
