

American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics Dayton-Cincinnati Section

After Work Social
Friday, 19 July 2013
6:00 PM

“So there I was...”

Guest Speaker:

You...

Location

Toxic Brew Co
431 East 5th Street
Dayton, Ohio 45402

Dinner

See menu

RSVP for a rough head count by the 17th July to:
matthew.quinton@afit.edu

Come out and tell us your best “So there I was...” story and meet the members of the AFIT and Dayton-Cincinnati Student AIAA Chapters at Dayton’s newest brew pub! Help support a local business founded by people like you and meet new people in the process.

Story time is from 6:00 pm to 7:00 pm.

Best story, judged by loudest applause, wins $50.00.

The Toxic Brew Company (TBC) is new to the Dayton area and draws on the unique history of Dayton brewing which began in the early 1800’s and lasted until the Dayton Breweries closed their doors in 1961. It would take 50 years before another brewery and Dayton’s first microbrewery would open its doors in 2013.

The people who made TBC happen...

Shane Juhl, (Brewmaster and General Manager), has worked on everything from photonic crystals to the International Space Station and enjoys the infinite possibilities and mechanics of building brewing equipment.

Harold Juhl, (Partner and Owner), lives in NC and has a full time job as lead Military Flight Instructor using the KC-130J simulator to train Marine Hercules pilots in preparation for operational duty around the world.

Terry Adams, (Partner and Equipment Adviser), lives in CA and specializes in optical interconnects, machines tools and tooling fixtures and helped design and build the Brewhouse and Fermentors for the Toxic Brew Company.